

W. S. S. CONCERT VERY PLEASING

Audience at Diamond Street Church Warmly Applaud-ed Lamar Satterfield.

Before a large audience at the Diamond Street M. E. church last night Lamar Satterfield, a popular and talented local tenor, gave an artistic concert as a boost for the War Savings campaign which is being waged in this city. Mr. Satterfield sang effectively three groups of songs of a varied nature and each group was greeted with enthusiastic applause from his audience.

The first group consisted of selections of a classic nature, the second group, partook of the patriotic nature while the closing group consisted of songs of a lighter vein. Mr. Satterfield was at his best throughout the entire program and thoroughly delighted his hearers. At the beginning of the program America was spiritedly sung by the audience and the rendition of the Star Spangled Banner at the conclusion brought a successful evening's entertainment to a close.

Judge W. S. Haymond delivered a splendid address during an intermission which was heartily applauded by the audience. Judge Haymond urged upon his hearers the importance of purchasing these war stamps as an aid to the government and also as a means of encouraging thrift.

BIG CROWD OUT AT MANNINGTON

Seventy-eight Marion County Men Left for Camp at That Point.

People of Mannington and surrounding territory turned out en masse at noon today to see the seventy-eight county draftees enroute for Camp Lee, Va. The train was on time leaving Mannington shortly after 12:25 p. m. The seventy-eight draftees reported to the county draft board at 9 o'clock this morning, but were later dismissed for entrapment.

A meeting of the draftees and the town people was held in front of the Fairmont hotel at 11 o'clock. Commending the men, L. Smith of this city was the principal orator for the occasion.

The draftees were accompanied to the Fairmont and Ohio railroad station by the Elks band of Mannington. The contingent was placed in the care of Albert Steele of Mannington.

RAILROAD FUEL

going to the lakes every day and about the same number are going to Curtis Bay.

Coal Notes.
D. R. Lawton will go east tonight for a conference at the Fuel administration office.

The National Coal association has issued an interesting booklet containing facsimiles of the heads of hundreds of newspapers, scattered all over the country, placed upon the Coal association's warning to the public to buy coal now. The title of the unique and interesting publication is "On Record" and the subtitle is "Coal Operators of the Country are Placed Squarely on Record Before the Public by the National Coal Association."

The miners at the Francois mine near the Fair grounds at Clarksburg were organized last night by "Mother" Jones, James D. and David Fowler. The same three speakers addressed a mass meeting of miners at Wilsonburg Sunday and estimate the crowd at 600 miners.

Today's Car Record.
Of one hundred and seventy-one mines reporting in this region today, there are five down because of an inadequate car supply. As a result a total of 1355 men are idle and 14,020 tons of coal is lost.

There are 1099 cars, including fifty-nine coke cars and one hundred privately owned cars.

The loading on Monday was 1097 cars. With every mine in the region working yesterday this loading was increased yesterday to 1117 cars, and with a good car supply today the loading today would have been even better.

Reports from the Monongahela railroad show that there is a sixty-five percent car supply for the mines along that road today. The car supply on the Monongahela railroad for tomorrow will not be known until after five o'clock this afternoon.

SAYS WOMEN FEAR SUNSHINE

"Too many women regard the sun and the air as their worst enemies, rather than as their best friends," a Western woman golf champion remarked recently at a Los Angeles country club.

"I have been playing golf almost daily for 15 years, and I make it a rule to go hatless as much as possible. I find that the sun and the fresh air keep my scalp in excellent condition, and I have also found a fine preparation called Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer which keeps ugly streaks away from my hair maintaining it a dark natural color. The combination certainly is most beneficial." A recent photograph of the fair golfer bears out her assertions.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

CONFESIONS OF A WIFE

This world is yet a man-made world, and to the hearts and minds and souls of most men, there comes no feeling or thought of any wrong when he "falls" for the tempting wiles of a pretty woman.

I remember as though it were yesterday what Dick said to me as I looked at him with horror when he made that speech about falling for Mrs. Titter.

"Don't Margie, don't draw away from me. I love you dear, love you only, and yet I wonder if any woman understands the complex heart of man—man who gives to one woman his love and reverence the best part of himself—and yet steals away at times to some other woman for whom he cares nothing."

At that time Dick that speech hurt me so much that it loosened away another little part of my faith and trust in you from the moorings of my love. Sometimes I have wondered of what men really are made. They seem to expect them to be saints, who under no circumstances could be sinners and yet they are usually telling what a splendid place in which to take a stroll is the primrose path. Does a man never realize that when a woman first finds out that all her illusions have vanished from the cold and icy fog of distrust, her first thought is that she will follow that path a little way and pick a few posies? They want to see what there is in primroses that men like to wait that they never get over the desire to pluck them and put them on their coars for everyone to see them wither and die.

This world would be a happier place in which to live if we would just understand that to be a saint one must have the same courage it takes to be a sinner.

I am writing this, dear Dick, with absolutely no feeling except one of analysis and philosophy and yet at the time you said these things to me I thought my lot was the most tragic on earth.

Is it because I have grown so old that I cannot feel any more? Or is it that my heart and emotions are just lying fallow after the long time given to seed time and harvest? Have I come to that splendid understanding that loving is a much greater thing—a much more satisfying thing—in the end than being loved?

To love unselfishly is the one thing that puts one human being above another.

When we find that those we thought loved us have been untrue to us—have betrayed our love—I think the greatest pain is not because of our lover's unfaithfulness, but because our love is wounded, or maybe slain.

God pity the man or woman who comes to the time and place where there is no love in his heart for anyone. He will not have to die to know the pangs of hell.

When a woman is very young she always looks to the time when she will be first in someone's eyes; first in someone's heart; first in someone's life. As she grows older she realizes this is almost impossible in this material world and then if she is clever she pours herself out in loving and finds at last her salvation.

A PARTING SHOT.
Mr. Will Makin had just popped the question to Miss Elderleigh, the lady of his choice.

I am sorry, she answered resolutely, I cannot marry you. I'm sure you never saw any encouragement written on my face.

Ah, true! sighed the rejected one, I suppose it was because of my inability to read between the lines.—Answers.
